Program Description

EP and Device Therapy for Allied Professionals: Applying Knowledge to Clinical Practice is a one-day program presented by the Heart Rhythm Society and hosted at Sanger Heart and Vascular Institute in Charlotte, North Carolina.

The purpose of this program is to bring together allied professionals from the region to discuss current practices and trends within the heart rhythm community. Through didactic sessions, panel discussions and hands-on opportunities clinicians working in device and electrophysiology labs will gain a comprehensive understanding of how to best manage arrhythmia patients.

Who Should Attend

The target audience includes nurses, nurse practitioners, physician assistants and technologists.

Learning Objectives

- Review device interrogation and interpretation
- Recognize concepts related to mapping and ablation technologies in the EP lab setting
- Identify periprocedural patient management for EP, ablation and device therapies
- Describe ethical issues related to EP and device patient care
- Recognize the best out-patient follow-up and diagnostic methods
