Purpose
To shape the Society’s quality improvement activities in order to accomplish the following goals:

- Foster a culture of quality improvement with a global network of heart rhythm quality champions and the delivery of QI education and training opportunities related to heart rhythm disorders;
- Identify and evaluate systems-based methods to improve experience and outcomes for patients with heart rhythm disorders;
- Increase the awareness, acceptance, adoption and adherence to clinical guidelines and best practices by healthcare professionals who treat patients with heart rhythm disorders;
- Address gaps that result in population disparities in care and outcomes for those with heart rhythm disorders;
- Expand the availability and use of tools to measure performance and outcomes, control variability, reduce cost and improve efficiency in the care of patients with heart rhythm disorders;
• Ease the burden for heart rhythm professionals in meeting regulatory and credentialing requirements and transitioning to the constantly evolving environment of healthcare payment reform;
• Identify sustainable business models for continued HRS QI education.

Responsibilities
• Strategize and design a plan, timeline, and budget to meet the goals listed above;
