

FHRS Membership Application

Pediatric Electrophysiologists

Fellow of the Heart Rhythm Society (FHRS) status recognizes members for their advanced training, certification and commitment to the research and treatment of heart rhythm disorders.

Pediatric Electrophysiologists who practice outside the United States may apply using either the criteria below or those for International Electrophysiologists.

Eligibility Criteria and Application Checklist:

- 1. A completed copy of this form, including payment of the $135 application processing fee.
- 2. Current membership in the Heart Rhythm Society as a Physician.
- 3. A copy of your curriculum vitae (CV) / résumé / biosketch.
- 4. Two letters of support from current FHRS members. A list of FHRS members can be found at www.HRSonline.org/FHRS. The letters may be addressed to the Membership Committee and sent either with the application or separately to the Heart Rhythm Society.
- 5. A cover letter by you documenting your interest in FHRS, as well as you meet the criteria below.
- 6. Certification in Pediatric Cardiology by an accredited certification body.
- 7. At least 12 months of training in a Pediatric EP fellowship or began Pediatric EP practice prior to 2000.
- 8. Current IBHRE certification. Visit www.IBHRE.org for more information or to check your certification status.
- 9. At least 75 percent of clinical practice devoted to heart rhythm disorders.

FHRS Application Process:

- Completed applications from eligible candidates are considered by the Membership Committee.
- Please allow approximately four weeks for the Membership Committee to consider your request.
- The Membership Committee reviews applications throughout the year. However, completed applications must be received by March 31 in order to be considered in time for induction at the Annual Scientific Sessions.

FHRS MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS INCLUDE

Mounted FHRS Certificate and FHRS lapel pin

Induction and recognition during a special event at the Annual Scientific Session

Entitlement to use the designation and brand of Fellow of the Heart Rhythm Society (FHRS), reflecting your advanced training and professional achievement

Special recognition on the Fellows page of the Society website and in other Society communications

Early registration and housing for the Annual Scientific Session

QUESTIONS?

Contact the Membership Department at 202-464-9855 or membership@HRSonline.org

